South Africa Boom A Winter Tale Sad-Sack Pictures

World sentiment, largely marshalled by Great Britain but seconded by officialdom in Washington, is against the Union of South Africa due to its drastic enforcement of segregation policies — but this remote nation seems to be prospering nevertheless.

Exports of South African goods last year hit a record 206 million dollars, and business is booming, Prime Minister Dr. H. F. Verwoerd reports in a press release received here over the weekend.

Critics back in England have called the Verwoerd regime a dictatorship, but the prime minister announces there will be a general election March 30.

Perhaps the moral behind all this is that the people out on the frontier are better judges of what is practical and right at any given moment than the talkers and theorists back in comfortable old London town.

You have to give the white South Africans the benefit of any doubt. They ventured out from civilized Europe generations ago and built up a new land to what it is today. It is in the nature of things that they will get around to racial reform with the passage of time. But it can't be done with premeditated orders over the long-distance telephone from London.

Overseas orders from Great Britain fell on deaf ears in our own American colonies — and Verwoerd's people are of the same hard-working but obstinate stock.

It was the night that the mercury went down to 1 degree in Hope. I had part of a bale of hay in the garage, left over from bedding down some caged quail and — nestled down in the hay was one large and homeless white dog.

He moved outside and waited while I put the car in. I thought: "This fellow is going to be a nuisance. He'll scatter hay all over the garage." So I pulled down the garage door and went into the house. Then old man Conscience went to work. The thermometer told me the night was heading for zero — a night "not fitten for man or beast."

I went back and raised the garage door, and the grateful stranger moved in. He's still there.

The social workers made a great to-do about the nobility and undeservingness of the human race — but what kind of men are they who abandon a dog to cold and hunger?

Don't blame yesterday's horrible local pictures on our new press. It was the pictures, not the press. I speak with authority — because I'm the guy who made 'em.

The originals were as good as any I have shot in 30 years of picture-taking. And back in the days of electronic engraving for our old press they would have reproduced beautifully.

But now we are printing by offset — and in offset you have to re-photograph the originals. The procedure is to make a screened print — that is, a picture with all the fine dots in it that you see in a picture on the printed page.

I was having good luck with this re-photographing business beginning with our second offset edition of Jan. 7 — but then I got some expert advice and changed systems. It didn't work. We went back to our original system today, and if things work out we will re-run some of the prints we "busted" yesterday. You're going to see a lot of this frantic tinkering before we have the major "bugs" worked out of offset.

What we are up against reminds me of the sweat the early airline pilots found themselves in when they suddenly got orders to quit flying "by the seat of their pants," and learn how to fly on instruments.

You used to process pictures by judging their appearance to the naked eye. But no more. Now you have to use microscope to inspect the dots in the whites and blacks. Yesterday I missed the dots in the blacks and — there was nothing for the ink on the press to pick up.

Bad Weather Bounces Back Into Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The U.S. Weather Bureau predicted more snow for Arkansas today, with most sections of the state still showing remnants of last Friday's storm that pelted the state with as much as a foot of snow.

State Police said early today that highways were hazardous, with ice already covering some in North Arkansas.

The bureau said the new snow would move in from a cold front out of the west.

The forecast called for snow accumulations of four to eight inches in the northern section and up to three inches elsewhere. It would mark Arkansas' fourth snow in 12 days.

The last snow dumped 12 inches on Pine Bluff and seven inches on Little Rock.

$3.3 Billion to Be Asked for Fgn. Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is expected to ask Congress today for $3.3 billion in new foreign aid funds for the next fiscal year plus a five-year term for the overseas assistance program.

This is larger than the program for the current fiscal year ending June 30, but just how much is difficult to say because of a change in budgeting methods. Some $600 million in arms aid for Viet Nam — exact amount unspecified has been wrapped into the new U.S. defense budget.

For economic assistance, Johnson's fiscal 1967 budget propose $2.47 billion in new appropriations, counting $550 million for Viet Nam. For military aid it seeks $917 million, not counting Viet Nam. If related programs such as Food for Peace are included, the over-all total pushes above the $4-billion mark.

The Agency for International Development's program for economic aid next year also includes an estimated $344 million unspent from past appropriations. This would bring the economic figure to $2.81 billion — a quarter-billion increase over this year, counting Viet Nam both years.

Johnson's proposal for a five-year authorization is in line with Senate Foreign Relations Committee Chairman J. W. Fulbright's call for long-term aid authority. The Arkansas Democrat also has pushed for a separation of economic and military aid legislation.

NLR Voters Go to Polls Today

The board, which is the federal agency that enforces labor laws, held its annual election today. The board is made up of five members, three of whom are appointed by the president and two by the Senate.

Ida; and Ralph Lehman, director, Hope, will be heading up several committee assignments at the 66th annual convention and trade show of the Arkansas Retail Hardware Association here this weekend, Feb. 5-6. ## M. Thrash Heads Heart Campaign

Melvin Thrash has been appointed chairman of the 1966 Heart Fund campaign in Hempstead County. The campaign will be conducted here, and in more than 850 other American communities, throughout the month of February.

The chairman will be assisted by Mrs. Enora Ridgill, who will serve as city chairman. Mrs. Ridgill announced that the following will serve as committee chairmen in the month-long campaign for support to underwrite research, education and community service activities of the local Heart Association:

Miss Velora Bright, projects chairman; Mrs. Carlton Roberts, Business District chairman; Mrs. Pod Rogers, Mrs. George Young, and Mrs. C. D. Hare will serve as Ward Chairmen.

The Heart Fund Drive will reach its high point during the six-day period preceding February 27, when Heart Sunday Volunteers in all residential areas will visit their neighbors to deliver education information on how to reduce your family's risk of heart attack and to receive Heart Fund contribution.

State's Full Crew Law Is Ruled Valid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Supreme Court ruled Monday that two Arkansas laws requiring full train crews are still valid.

The 7-1 decision overturned the ruling of a special three-judge U.S. District Court in Hot Springs which said the laws were displaced by Federal legislation enacted in 1963 to head off a railroad strike.

Justice Hugo L. Black wrote the court decision. Justice William O. Douglas dissented and Justice Abe Fortas took no part in the case.

The decision raises some difficulties for railroads trying to eliminate unwanted crewmen, especially firemen on diesel engines because a number of states have such laws.

But unions threatened to sue in 1963 if the railroads were to effect new rules and the number of crewmen.

The decision placed the burden on the railroads to show that the laws are unconstitutional. The Arkansas Railroad Commission is now on the case.

Snowfall Eases in the East

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snowfall eased today in the big Eastern storm, but cold, gusty winds continued to pile drifts, bedeviling efforts to clear roads in smothered communities and a snow storm spread 4 to 8 inches of snow northeastward out of the southern Plains.

Syracuse, N.Y., still was in the grip of blizzardy snow squalls blowing off Lake Ontario. Four feet of snow covered some parts of the city.

The Weather Bureau said that the record January snowfall included 43 inches at Worcester, Mass., 41 inches at both Burlington, Vt., and Roanoke, Va., and 32 inches at Lynchburg, Va. Florida recovered from its frost and freeze and mild weather pressed in from the Gulf of Mexico along the coast to Texas.

Statewide emergencies were declared for Pennsylvania and Delaware where hundreds of travelers and rural dwellers were still isolated by road blockages caused by drifts of 10 feet or more. In Virginia, the snow dunes were reported 15 feet high.

With communications hampered, there was no way of assessing the cost in lives or dollars of the January storm series. Death counts bogged as human attrition took many forms including fire fatalities, freezing, and heart attacks from snow removal exertion.

In Pennsylvania the highway department said that with 11,000 men engaged in snow clearance, the cost could run to $5 million. The clean-up cost in Philadelphia, where 9 inches fell, was put at $500,000. In some localities, all except vital road clearing operations were put off until the snow-shifting winds could die down.

Hundreds of schools were closed Monday or Tuesday, not only in the hard-hit Eastern sector, but also in the path of a new storm from New Mexico to Missouri. In Maryland where all schools were shut, two colleges and the University of Maryland delayed registrations for the second semester until Wednesday or Thursday.

U.S. 40 was closed in some sections through Maryland, and hundreds of secondary roads were checked in Maryland, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Arkansan Killed in Viet Nam War

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The family of Army 2nd Lt. Bob Gordon, 26, has been notified here that their son was killed in the crash of a C-123 transport plane in Viet Nam last Tuesday.

He had been used as a medic. The Defense Department said Nolen was among 45 Americans killed in the crash at an Air Force base north of Saigon.

Rules Woman Entitled to Jobless Pay

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court ruled today that a Monticello woman is entitled to workmen's compensation for an injury in 1960. One justice called the delay shocking.

Mrs. Martella M. Johnson, an employee of Bottoms Baptist Orphanage at Monticello, said she suffered a stomach injury on Sept. 4, 1960.

She had had trouble closing a refrigerator door and lifting crates of fruit, she said.

Days later she underwent an operation for the injury, she said, but her claim for compensation was denied by a referee of the Workmen's Compensation Commission.

The full commission then upheld her claim, but Pulaski Chancery Court overruled the commission. She appealed to the Supreme Court.

Chief Justice, in his opinion, said the commission and the court were in agreement.

"Some time years later the case has finally reached its court and even now we are limited in the relief we can provide. The long and moribund delay incident to the adjudication of this case is shocking indeed."

Chief said that justice delayed is frequently justice denied, and "this is dramatically evidenced in cases of this character."

Chief suggested that all such cases be handled swiftly because of the "compelling importance" of judging whether workmen have a right to compensation.

Army Star Has and Operation

LBJ Trying to Stop War From Expanding

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has told administration officials he intends to keep a tight rein on any expansion of the Vietnamese war. He is understood to have ruled out any bombing of Hanoi or Haiphong for the immediate future.

Officials said today the President is determined at this time, having resumed the bombing in the North, to stick to a middle-course policy. They said he intends to avoid any show of a lack of determination, on the one hand, and any unnecessary escalation on the other.

The pattern of attacks in the new phase of the war following the peace offensive is expected to be consistent with a pattern followed before the pause began.

Bombing was suspended before Christmas and resumed Monday after a 37-day lull. Johnson in a public statement said "it is our clear duty to do what we can" to limit the cost in lives of Allied soldiers fighting Red forces in the South.

The major stated aim of the bombing is to curtail the movement of arms and soldiers from North to South in Viet Nam.

At the same time Johnson said his "pursuit of peace" would go on primarily through the United Nations. U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg called for an immediate session of the U.N. Security Council to hear a report on the peace effort and receive resolutions designed to continue efforts to get North Viet Nam to negotiate.

Johnson, it was learned, made the basic decision last Saturday to resume the bombing. He had been discussing it with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and other advisers throughout the week.

Last Saturday afternoon the President went over targets which had been submitted for the first strikes after the pause ended. He had followed that procedure during the bombings last year, exercising close control over the operations against the North, and will continue to do so, officials said.

Picketing Is Lawful, Court Says

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court ruled today that a laborers union lawfully picketed two construction jobs at Pine Bluff.

General Laborers Local 858 picketed Arthur J. Arney Co. in its construction work at Arkansas AM&N College and Simmons First National Bank.

Chancellor Joseph Morrison had ruled that the picketing was unlawful. He ordered the union to stop and issued a judgment for damages caused by the picketing.

The Supreme Court said, however, that the "preponderance of the evidence was to the effect that the union did not demand that the company hire union labor or union labor exclusively."

"The union was only trying to obtain a contract with the company," the high court said, and this is legal, even though "there was some testimony that the union wanted the company to hire union labor."

The Helping Hand

U.S. Air Force 1st Lt. Walter R. Eichner of Cranford, N.J., instructs an English course for South Vietnamese air force men at Bien Hoa air base. The classes are held five nights a week.

American aid to South Viet Nam is much more than a strong right arm to stave off Communist aggression or even massive economic support. The helping hand also is extended in many ways which often are felt and appreciated more immediately by the people themselves. Although these gestures may be small in themselves, the total effort eventually may yield great dividends in winning the friendship and support of the Vietnamese.

U.S. units throughout the country make their medical facilities available to the local population. Above, Air Force doctors Clyde Sullivan, left, of Boise, Idaho, and Calvin C. Chapman of Berkeley, Calif., aided by a Vietnamese nurse, treat a patient at a leprosarium near Saigon.

The United States seeks to lessen, where possible, inevitable civilian suffering. An Air Force officer hands over a compensation payment for the crash of a bomber in the city of Nha Trang.

Even on the battlefield, Americans help in small ways. 1st Air Cavalry soldiers brought Roman Catholic priest Father Paul Huynh Bien back to celebrate a mass at Binh Tan, the village Viet Cong had forced him to flee a year before. More, they later helped him move religious objects to a new church in a secure area.

From New Year's Day until after income taxes are paid the secret urge is to pack up and fly away to a new environment. Not all can indulge this desire. Some can and do while the rest of us keep amused jotting down our wishes and needs in preparation for vacation time.

Whether you leave tomorrow or in July, one of your first concerns will be selecting a suitable wardrobe and packing it well. Another concern is keeping your complexion under control. Airline stewardesses who fly through many time zones in their assignments prove a good source for tips on complexion care. American's stewardesses, for example, make this point: Most complexions don't care for traveling because travel means change and complexions have a negative reaction to unfamiliar water and climates.

The stewardesses keep their complexion under control by following basic home complexion care. This includes drinking plenty of water, eating green and leafy vegetables, citrus fruits and dairy products and exercising.

They also point out that:

- Travel time is no time to try anything new for the skin.
- Use your favorite as tringent or freshener to help keep your skin in balance and use your own special cleanser throughout the trip before washing with soap and water.
- In a soft water area, make sure to remove all soap. And take your own soap to help your skin survive the water change.

Constant stay-at-homes are difficult to find these days. Winter vacations are more common and so are weekend trips to visit family, friends or resort areas. Everything is less hurried for the woman who plans her cosmetic and clothing needs in advance and packs them well. Select lightweight, nonbreakable plastic containers for beauty aids and pack in a small carrying case. Avoid wrinkled clothing by folding dresses in tissue paper. Take less instead of more clothes—an assortment of drip-drys, knits, mix-and-match outfits, a fold-up raincoat and hood and comfortable shoes. Such a wardrobe can go in one suitcase.

- Pamper your skin with a creamy moisture lotion.
- Avoid fatty foods, rich desserts and an overdose of stimulants while traveling.

When packing look to your skin cosmetic case for comfort and complexion help. There are many small items to take, such as a manicure kit, a needle and thread and pins. Before each trip, make a list of toiletry needs and try to pack them in lightweight, nonbreakable plastic containers. Fill plastic containers no higher than three-quarters.

Wherever you go, you will want to include sunglasses and a squeeze bottle of eye lotion to relieve eye fatigue.

Peace Efforts Were All for Nothing

By LEWIS GULICK
WASHINGTON (AP)—Months of pondering how to bring peace to Viet Nam. Secret sessions with top U.S. strategists. Day-to-day decisions on withholding bombing. A flood of U.S. presidential envoys abroad. A communist rebuff. A big dooate home.

These are major ingredients of the 37-day peace offensive which came to a shattering end today with President Johnson's order resuming the air strikes on North Viet Nam.

Here is a detailed look at what went on — backstage, sometimes in tight secrecy, as well as out in the open:

For the background, hark back to last spring.

On April 7, 1965, Johnson set forth, in a speech at Johns Hopkins University, his offer of "unconditional discussions" for a peaceful settlement. His April 7 terms remain basically the U.S. position today: the United States wants nothing except independence and security for South Viet Nam, and "will do everything necessary to reach that objective." The Reds denounced his proposal as a cover-up for more U.S. "aggression."

In May he ordered a five-day halt in air strikes on North Viet Nam to test further the Communist response. Hanoi refused even to receive a U.S. diplomatic note conveyed through the British.

Through the summer and into the fall critics of Johnson's Viet Nam policy, including Red regimes outside of Hanoi and Peking, contended the May pause had not been long enough to give Hanoi a reasonable chance to respond. Washington asked what Hanoi would do if the bombing stopped, and got no answer. But administration strategists kept the possibility in mind.

On Nov. 11 the issue was raised in secrecy at a conference at the LBJ Ranch in Texas. Gathered with the President were Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and presidential assistants McGeorge Bundy and Jack Valenti.

The arguments for and against suspending the air attacks on the Communist North at that time kept recurring in following weeks and into the period of the peace offensive itself.

Against a bombing letup: North Viet Nam could more freely infiltrate and supply the Reds in the South, Washington would be losing an ace card in any negotiations, Hanoi would misread the pause as a sign of U.S. weakness, resuming the bombing would cause serious diplomatic and public opinion problems for the United States.

For the pause: The bombing so far had not stopped the North's aggression against the South or produced Communist interest in negotiating, the air strikes could be resumed in time to avoid serious military loss, Washington would score great diplomatic and propaganda gains around the world—and Hanoi might be persuaded to start talking peace, as the Soviets and some others had suggested.

All Women Were Represented

PARIS (AP)—Antonio Castillo's spring collection which opened today represented all kinds of women. His good little girls were very, very good, and his slightly naughty one was nautical.

From the start, butterflies flitted in and out of the designer's collection as twinkling pins rested on the slightly wide shoulders of dresses and suits; perched on some of those saucer-like bowlers over hair pulled back into twists.

Castillo's "good-little - girl" dresses were sleeveless, small bustled, long-torsoed and short. Sometimes their hems were hiked three inches above the kneecap, although an inch was the general rule.

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

Mrs. Larry Samuel Patterson

The wedding of Miss Jo Carol Cox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Huston Cox, and Larry Samuel Patterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Ernest Patterson, took place Saturday, January 22, at 6:30 p.m. in the sanctuary of the First Methodist Church in Columbia, Tennessee.

The Rev. Fred Blankenship, pastor of the church, performed the double ring ceremony. The wedding music was presented by Mrs. John Lasley, organist, and Mrs. William G. Fuqua, soloist.

Mr. Cox gave his daughter in marriage. The bride was lovely in a gown of champagne peau de soie, styled with a sculptured bateau neckline of alencon lace re-embroidered with seed pearls, and full length sleeves. A chapel length train emanated from the yoke at the back of the dress. Her headpiece was a crown of alencon lace accented with seed pearls which held the triple-tiered veil in place. She carried a bouquet of butterfly roses with strands of pearls and garlands of hyacinth florets framing white orchids. Her diamond watch was the gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Joy Ellen Ellingboe of Nashville was maid of honor. She wore a dress of electric blue velvet, made with empire bodice and a-line skirt. She wore a circlet headpiece with veil and carried a cascade of Happiness roses and camellia foliage.

Bridesmaids were Miss Bettie Jane Fountain of Donelson, Mrs. Don Watkins and Miss Lucy Scott Fuqua. They were attired like the honor attendant. The attendants wore teardrop necklaces given them by the bride. Melinda Stone, five-year-old daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Tony Stone of Lebanon was the flower girl. She wore an imported Hamburg white embroidered organza dress with blue velvet sash and carried a white basket filled with Happiness rose petals.

Gerry Reed Gober of Nashville served as best man. Ushers were Sterling Clard Robinson of Nashville, Jack Shannon Orman, cousin of the bride, and William Houston Cox Jr., brother of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Cox entertained at a reception in the Fellowship Hall of the Church after the wedding. The bridal table was overlaid with white satin. The centerpiece was a silver epergne arrangement of pink roses and greenery.

Serving at the table were Mrs. Louise Stone, Mrs. T. H. Cook, Jr., Mrs. Madison Dodson, Mrs. T. J. Burt, Jr., Mrs. Ray Burt, Mrs. Lucille Burt, Mrs. Frank S. Potts, and Mrs. C. N. Orman. After a Southern wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Patterson will reside at the Barbizon apartments in Nashville, Tennessee.

Don't Let Handicap Stand in Way

By WILLIAM L. EBERLINE

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Suppose you were blind and wanted a job as a newspaper reporter, an electrical engineer, a computer programmer.

Impossible, you might say. And most people, including many of the blind themselves, would agree.

But, says Kenneth Jernigan, director of the Iowa Commission for the Blind, it is anything but impossible.

In fact, in the last six months, a blind person has gone to work as a reporter, another as an electrical engineer, and a third as a computer programmer.

They are graduates of the commission's Orientation and Rehabilitation Center.

Placing them in these jobs, Jernigan says, represents an important breakthrough in opportunities for the blind who too often are regarded as limited in the jobs they can hold.

Jernigan, sightless from birth, holds a different philosophy.

He says: "With proper training and opportunity, the average blind person can do the average job in the average place of business, and do it as well as his sighted neighbor."

He says the Iowa program is paying off in job placements and in a breakdown of what he calls historic public attitudes and misconceptions about blindness.

Jernigan says the commission's training program is aimed at giving the blind:

Alternative techniques of doing things in which sighted people use sight — independent mobility, reading, communication and the activities of daily living.

Confidence in the blind person's ability to perform, with these alternative techniques, in a job or daily living.

The understanding to cope with public misconception that the word "blind" carries with it connotations of inferiority and helplessness.

Techniques to develop coordination and confidence include physical training, woodworking for men, using power saws, lathes, reamers and the like, and use of power sewing machines by the women.

Jernigan says his theories about the blind have caused considerable head shaking among administrators around the nation.

"They may disagree with our theories," Jernigan said, "but they can't disagree with our results."

Films Are Banned

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — Burma's film censor board has banned four American films from showing within the country, the Working People's Daily says.

The board said the four American films — "Blanket Bingo," "Ski Party," "Pajama Party," and "Muscle Beach Party," portray American teenagers dancing and frolicking making an exhibition unfit for the Burmese people.

Urges War Go Before UN Council

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse has urged the United States to bring the Viet Nam struggle before the United Nations Security Council, a move strongly opposed by Sen. John C. Stennis.

"We haven't any unilateral right to determine what a Viet Nam settlement should be," the Oregon Democrat said Sunday, 12 hours before it was announced that American planes had begun bombing North Viet Nam targets again, ending a 37-day lull.

"I want a United Nations resolution calling for arbitration," said Morse, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and outspoken critic of the administration's Viet Nam policies. "I want a United Nations takeover for peacemaking purposes."

Stennis, a Mississippi Democrat who heads the Senate Preparedness subcommittee, said that to refer peacemaking to the U.N. Security Council members "would be giving them a problem they could not solve."

"We'd better go on and do it under our command," argued Stennis. "I don't want to turn it over to anyone."

The discussion of possible U.N. arbitration apparently stemmed from a suggestion Pope Paul VI made Saturday.

Asked about arbitration, the Pope said: "Who knows whether finally an arbitration by the United Nations, entrusted to neutral nations, might tomorrow — we could hope for such a thing even today — be able to resolve the terrible question."

The White House, then in the midst of decision-making on the resumption of bombing in North Viet Nam, promised to study the pontiff's suggestions.

In Evanston, Ill., Undersecretary of State George Ball described as a fiction North Viet Nam's demand that the United States recognize the National Liberation Front as "the sole genuine representative of the people of South Viet Nam" before a peaceful settlement was possible.

The National Liberation Front, Ball told a Northwestern University alumni group, "is purely and simply a fictitious organization created by Hanoi to reinforce a fiction." The United States has offered to consider the views of any group without preconditions, Ball said.

Morse and Stennis aired their disagreements on an unusual 90-minute CBS television-radio program "Congress and War."

Also appearing were Sens. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., and Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., and Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La.

The discussion turned into a hot debate after Morse said U.S. operations in Viet Nam were in violation of 13 articles in the U.N. Charter and challenged President Johnson's authority for waging war without a formal declaration. Morse had said Saturday he will offer a Senate resolution today to force a test vote on Johnson's authority.

Ma, You Make The Pants Too Big!

Dear Helen: I don't like pants so tight they shut off circulation or cause sores on your legs where the hair rubs, but I don't like "bell bottoms all the way up" either. My mother expects me to get pants a size too big for me around the waist so she can take them in, because she says they'll either shrink or I'll grow, if she gets the right size.

So they don't shrink, and by the time I grow, they're worn out. She won't peg them, and I look like I'm wearing my father's clothes. The pants are down over my shoelaces, even.

If you aren't on my side, please don't print his, because one more on my mother's side and I'd never stop looking like a droopbottomed scarecrow. My grandmother also thinks that's the only way to buy-big. And my Dad stays out of it. — Help

Dear Help: I printed it, so you can see whose side I'm on. If a boy's pants must be taken in around the waist, they'll be baggy enough to get him called "Farmer John," and you need a lot of will power to face that label without fighting — or hiding.

Too-tight pants are miserable (they DO cause circulation problems and rashes, in addition to looking like a long-legged corset) but too loose pants can ruin a guy's self-confidence. I hope your mother settles for the right size — with the help of a clerk in boys-wear. — H.

Dear Helen: I'm fuming! What's so wrong with our teenage fads? Every Saturday I watch a couple of TV dance programs. You know what my father does? He sits there with me and mocks every style, song or person that comes on. He makes fun of the dances too.

I wish newspapers would publish pictures that would show us teens how funny our parents looked when they were kids.

Another thing: our parents weren't angels when they were young. I've heard them talk of the pranks they pulled. If we did things like that now, it would be called Juvenile Delinquency. They get upset if we play games like giving a boy and a girl the same piece of licorice to eat and seeing where they meet, but I found out our folks did that with marshmallows, and at a younger age too! — Flippin' Mad

Dear Flip: Don't let it bug you honey. Your folks had the same problem with their parents — and your children will someday have it with YOU. And face it: if your father really dug your music and dances, very soon you'd begin to consider them old-fashioned — now wouldn't you? — H.

Dear g and R: Your parents are right: chronic lying is usually a bid for attention, and a sign of insecurity. This girl needs someone to talk to: I think your mothers might tactfully persuade her she's off on the wrong track — trying to impress people with tall tales because she is afraid the real person behind them doesn't measure up. —H.

Vanderbilt Protects Its No. 3 Ranking

Warriors Land in Second Place

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

In the Southeastern Conference where they have taken points for defense, Vanderbilt came up with a simple, old-fashioned basketball offense to protect its No. 3 ranking in the Associated Press poll.

The Commodores made nine of 10 foul shots in the last two minutes Monday night and topped Auburn 66-63 at Nashville. The victory was Vanderbilt's 18th straight and set up Wednesday's SEC confrontation with second-ranked Kentucky.

The unbeaten Wildcats won their 10th straight, beating an Alabama slowdown, 62-62. Coach Adolph Rupp needed his strained transitional pyrotechnic parade defense at Lexington and it was sticky for awhile until Kentucky went on a 17-0 rampage in less than five minutes away through the second half.

Clyde Lee hit seven of the Vanderbilt free throws that ended Auburn's upset ambitions. Lee, the Commodores' 6-foot-9 center, hit only two field goals but finished with 10 points.

Rupp's special defense that has looked as if it was a Kentucky-style zone, was in operation for 10-12 minutes while Alabama had the pressure on. With 12-12 minutes to play and Kentucky leading 41-40, the Wildcats went on their tear. But they got into a 20-point game during the fourth quarter.

Rycaj led the Mountaineers with 20 points while St. John's Bobby McIntyre led all scorers with 26.

Drake grabbed a share of the Missouri Conference lead with a 66-63 victory over Tulsa at Des Moines. Harold Jeter hit 22 points, most of them from the outside as the Bulldogs won their fourth straight in the MVC.

The setback jolted Tulsa from the league lead into a third-place tie with defending champion Wichita. The shockers, playing at home, stormed past North Texas 111-70 with Jamie Thompson and Warren Armstrong doing most of the heavy work. Thompson scored 27 points on 12 for 18 from the field while Armstrong hit 10 for 19 and finished with 24.

Ohio State's exciting second-half comeback fitted the Buckeyes to an 81-81 home-court overtime victory over Wisconsin in the Big Ten. Al Rowley and Al Peters sparked the rally as OSU stormed from 17 points down with a pressing defense that rattled the Badgers.

Oklahoma State broke a 10-game losing streak with a 37-30 Big Eight victory over Missouri at Columbia. But Fisher led the Cowboys with 18 points as they hit on 26 of 33 field goals and attempted for 39 per cent accuracy from the floor.

Elsewhere in the Big Eight, six Iowa state players hit double figures as the Cyclones dumped Oklahoma at Norman 82-62. John McGonigle had 19 points and Raul Durarte 18 points in the attack.

On the West Coast, UCLA scored a 34-27 home-court victory over Arizona in a nonconference game. The Bruins led at halftime 11-5 and opened the gap after the intermission by outscoring the Wildcats 22-3. Mike Lynn topped the Utes with 23 points.

Until about 100 years ago, the cucumber was known as cucurbit.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The San Francisco Warriors have just landed in second place in the Western Division of the National Basketball Association.

But it's lucky for them they aren't in the same division as the East's second-place Cincinnati Royals who test the West's new runners-up tonight in San Francisco.

If they were in the same division, the Warriors would be 11 games behind the Royals. San Francisco moved past Baltimore into second place Monday night by thrashing the Bullets 131-118. Paul Neumann scored 16 points for the Warriors in the first six minutes of the fourth quarter and the Bullets fell 16 points behind, never to recover.

The victory, the Warriors' third straight, gave them a 25-30 season mark and moved them to 5½ games behind the Los Angeles Lakers.

Trio in Dixie Ranked U.S. Top Cage Team

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Things are just dandy for Dixie Basketball boosters. A trio of Southern teams—Duke, Kentucky and Vanderbilt—hold down the first three places in the weekly Associated Press major college poll.

Duke increased its slight lead over Kentucky to 12 points while Vanderbilt advanced from fourth to third, replacing Providence.

The top-ranked Blue Devils received 24 first-place votes and 398 points in the poll of 42 sports writers and sportscasters after defeating North Carolina State Saturday night for their 13th straight victory and 15th in 16 games.

Kentucky kept its unbeaten record intact with victories No. 13 and 14 over Louisiana State and Auburn last week and received 17 first-place votes and 386 points.

The other first-place ballot went to Dayton which upset St. Joseph's, Pa. Despite the upset victory, the Flyers remained unrated.

Vanderbilt moved into third place on the strength of an easy victory over Louisiana State, which raised the Commodores' record to 15-2. They could improve their ranking with a victory over Kentucky Wednesday.

Kentucky won the first meeting of the two teams.

The voting, with records and points:

1. Duke	15-1	398
2. Kentucky	14-0	386
3. Vanderbilt	15-2	276
4. Providence	13-1	271
5. Chicago Loyola	15-1	217
6. Texas Western	14-0	189
7. Kansas	14-3	108
8. St. Joseph's, Pa.	13-4	75
9. Michigan	11-4	49
10. Cincinnati	14-3	30

League Not Ignoring Court Order

By KEN HARTNETT
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Baseball lawyers say the National League isn't ignoring a Wisconsin court order. In fact, they say, it will try to knock it out of the box later this week.

Bowie Kuhn attorney for the National League, told Circuit Court Judge Elmer Roller Monday that his order was unjustified and would be without effect. Kuhn said the league will move later this week if possible to have the order vacated.

But his remarks didn't stop the state from having a judicial field day at baseball's expense as it pressed for and won an advance in the trial date of its antitrust action against the game.

"The state finds it hard to believe," thundered William S. Stafford, special counsel, "that the National League, which takes such pains to present an Eagle Scout image of its ball players, would be so irresponsible as to flout a court order. Truly it is in the character of the monopolistic men we are dealing with."

Stafford said it was necessary to obtain from the court a meaningful and enforceable restraining order so that the state and the county can continue to enjoy the recreational and economic benefits of major league baseball in 1966.

Roller in denying the trial date, said he had been asked for two noted the arguments of defense attorneys to a week that his order would require a later trial date.

He avoided disclosing his reaction to the National League's reply to his order, saying he said that it was not his purpose today to punish the defense for failure to comply.

But he said if the order was granted on the basis of a hypothesis that it would take time and it didn't come to pass, we are going to advance the trial date.

Venturi Wins Top Money at Frisco Meet

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Ken Venturi, the golfer who refuses to say quit, won the $57,000 Lucky International Open Golf Tournament with his heart across a lake.

His 66 over the Harding Park municipal course on Monday brought him the $8,500 first prize, his first victory since a circulatory ailment threatened his career late in 1964 after he had won the U.S. Open title.

This was the course where Venturi had grown up, where his friends cheered him on and where his dad operates the pro shop.

Yet across Lake Merced is the Olympic club where the 1966 United States Open will be played in June, and Ken said, "I'm going to play a lot of rounds there, and I'm shooting for it. If I win it, I might just retire. That's my aim."

Venturi came back from a prolonged and agonizing slump to win the national title in 1964, but after the circulatory ailment attacked he collected just $295 in official money last year.

Before the Lucky, he skipped the Bing Crosby tournament, fearing cold weather, but told friends, "I wanted to play in the Lucky because it's the tournament in my home town."

Carrying hand warmers to give him feeling when he swung the clubs, Venturi started few strokes off the pace and even with his 33 on the first nine was still four back of leader Frank Beard.

Then Beard faltered with three bogeys on the first four holes while Venturi shot even par to move within a stroke of the leader. Beard parred the 14th, but Venturi found the putting secret of the day to sink a 25-footer, and they were even. When Kenney sank a 10-foot birdie putt on the 16th he had the winning stroke.

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Jerry Burns, dismissed as head football coach at Iowa after five dismal seasons, has stepped up instead of down.

Burns was added Monday to the coaching staff of the Green Bay Packers, champions of the National Football League three of the last five seasons.

It was a prestigious appointment to a staff that has produced two new head football coaches in the NFL within the last month.

Vince Lombardi, head coach, general manager and tactician taskmaster of the Packers, didn't specify what Burns would do, although it was expected he would take over defensive backfield duties.

Burns replaces Norb Hecker, who welded the stingiest pass defense unit in the NFL last season and was named last week as head coach of the new Atlanta Falcons.

Burns has stayed largely in seclusion at his home in Iowa City since he was fired in mid-November. He had no immediate comment.

Central Is Still Tops, in AP Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Little Rock Central held on No. 1 in the Associated Press High School Basketball poll today for the fifth straight week, again edging unbeaten Harrison.

The Tigers, 18-1, got eight of 11 first-place votes for 107 points and the Class AA Gobblins, 23-0, had three top votes and 102 points.

Others in the top 10, from third down, are North Little Rock, Mountain Home, Fort Smith Southside, Pine Bluff, Paragould and White Hall (tied for seventh), Jonesboro and Hot Springs.

Harrison knocked off Mountain Home, ranked third last week, but the victory over the 20-2 Bombers didn't gain the Gobblins any ground over Class AAA Central.

North Little Rock, leader in the early polls, climbed two spots in the poll, edging Mountain Home by one point.

Southside also moved up two notches to fifth after impressive victories over Texarkana and El Dorado.

Pine Bluff went from fourth to sixth after losing to Jonesboro, and Paragould, sixth last week, moved into a tie for seventh with White Hall, the No. 8 team last week.

Jonesboro moved into the top 10 based on its victories over Pine Bluff and Paragould.

Hot Springs, No. 9 last week, fell one spot even though the Trojans beat Payetteville during the week.

Little Rock McClellan, which like White Hall didn't play last week, lost its No. 10 ranking. Results of the poll, with first place votes in parentheses and total points at right:

1. Little Rock Central (8)	107
2. Harrison (3)	103
3. North Little Rock	75
4. Mountain Home	75
5. Fort Smith Southside	5

Wildlife Money for Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansians will get $1,000,000 in receipts from national wildlife refuges now being distributed to 15 states, the Department of Interior reports.

Louisiana got the large share of the 1964-65 receipts, $600,943. Arkansas was second in the amount received.

Law requires that the funds be used for public roads and schools.

Being Charitable

By SANDY PADWE

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Bowl games for charity... Not just the East-West or North-South games... The big ones... Rose, Orange, Cotton and Sugar... "For 12 years I've been advocating this," says Rip Engle, the Penn State football coach.

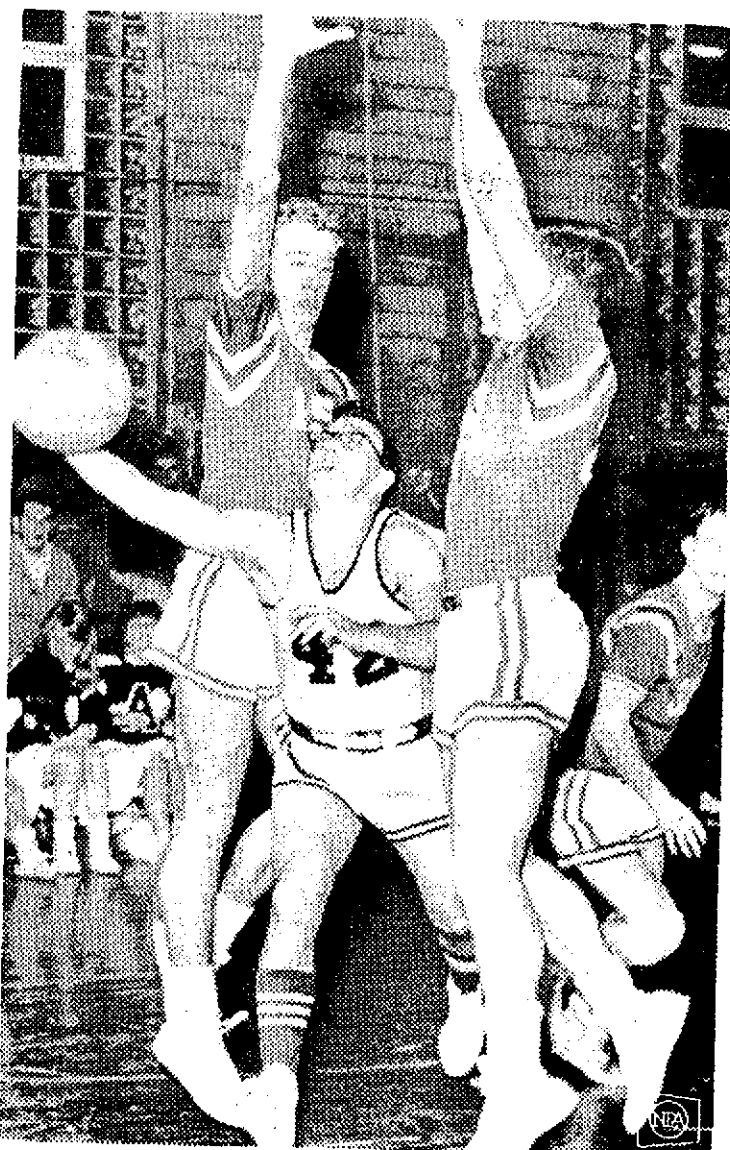

Oscar Robertson

"Think what you could do with the money after the competing teams' expenses had been paid... You could give the money for cancer research or for other diseases... Maybe the National Collegiate Athletic Association could set up scholarship funds... "Right now, we have a great game in collegiate football... There are a lot of teams playing a fine brand of ball... But we are faced with a situation where we might be creating some giants because year after year they play in the bowl games and come away with huge profits... "And at some of these schools that money just goes back into funds for getting bigger and stronger athletes... "Maybe I'm being naive... I don't know... I just think it would be hard for a school to turn down a bowl game being played for charity... "

It certainly would live up to the next NCAA convention... Can't you hear the rebel yells already... "Pro football," says Oscar Robertson of the Cincinnati Royals, "sold itself through television. We hope to sell the National Basketball Association the same way... "Robertson is the president of the NBA's Player Association... "What we must concentrate on," he says, "is picking the best games... Another criticism I've heard is that the games could be perfected a lot more technically, with better shots of the action... "

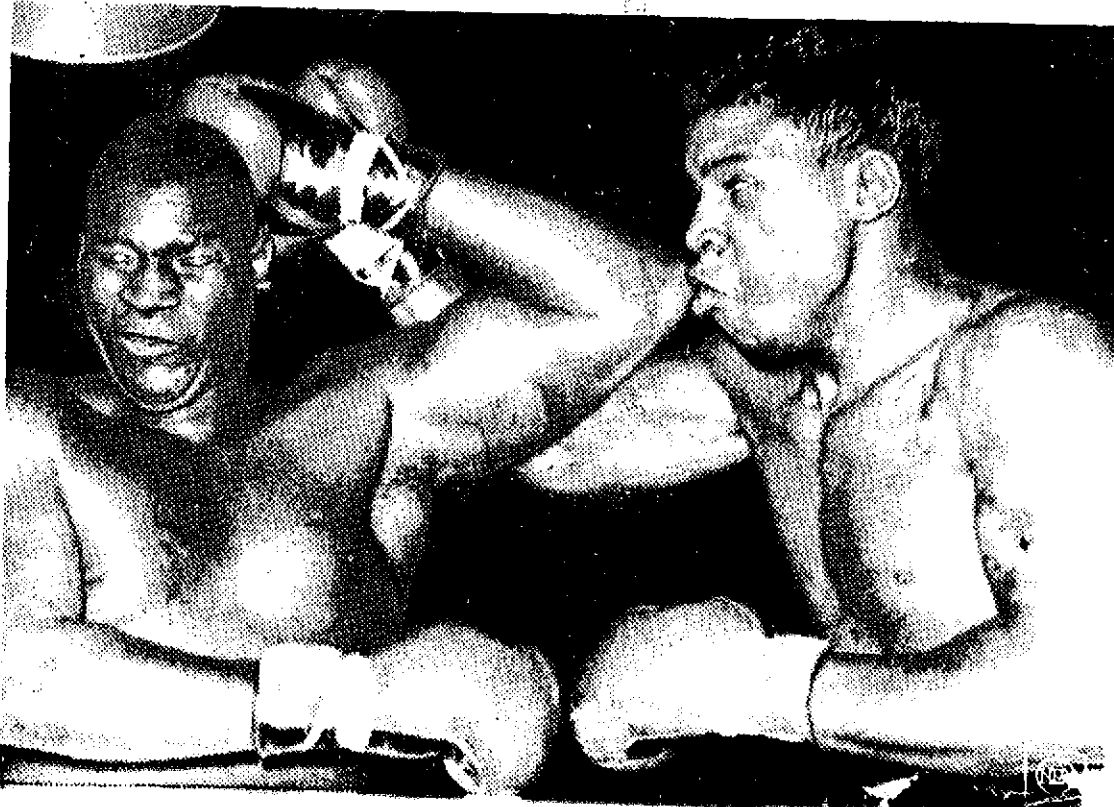

Tom Heinsohn, who held Robertson's job last year when he was with the Boston Celtics, has his own ideas about the league's television product... "The best games of the season are the playoffs," said Heinsohn... "So why not televise the playoffs on a night-by-night basis and give the fans the most dramatic games of the year in addition to the game of the week... "

The Van Arsdale brothers, Tom (Detroit Pistons) and Dick (New York Knicks) vetoed a seven-year movie contract with Warner Brothers when they were seniors at Indiana last year... "It would have messed up our pro basketball careers," Dick said... "Between you and me, Madison Square Garden's collegiate basketball program may regain some of its lost prestige when the new Garden opens in 1967... "What we're trying to do," says one Garden official, "is interest the name teams in playing each other in New York... We've had inquiries from a few schools... Duke is one... "

SQUEEZE PLAY—Jack Brady (42), Junior College of Albany, can't go over his opponents, so he goes under. Result—two points.

St. Augustine, the apostle to the English nation, was the first archbishop of Canterbury. No justice of the United States Supreme Court is permitted to engage in the private practice of law.

SCHOOL DAZE—Buster Mathis, left, Olympic gold medal winner, is a professional heavyweight now and is learning to take as well as give. Buster has "slimmed down" to 266 pounds and has looked impressive, except for a few brief moments.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—When the National Basketball Association realized it was being lapped by the National Football League in the race for acceptance and dollars, the league owners reached into suburbia for a new image.

Out of the mayor's office of Stamford, Conn., came Walter Kennedy.

Perfect. He commuted on the New Haven, wore button-down shirts and was seen, at times, wearing striped ties. He even carried an attache case like Pete Rozelle.

Right away this was an improvement. Some of the NBA owners still carry the night's profits in a brown paper bag.

Kennedy immediately went to work on the league's main problem—its image. He put the NBA back on national television, he fined Wilt Chamberlain for talking about bushes—the unplayable kind—and he made the Detroit Pistons forget all about Reggie Harding who was commuting between his home and the Detroit jail.

Everything had been quite peaceful this season until the Philadelphia 76ers missed a game in Cincinnati. It cost the team a $5,000 fine under league rules.

The fine would have been understandable if the team hadn't tried to make the game, but the 76ers did, and the incident just points out the biggest weakness of the NBA—its scheduling.

Each team plays 80 games.

But the city of Philadelphia thinks so much of pro basketball that it gives the 76ers last choice of dates at Con-

'Some Teams Have No Regard for Players'

By SANDY PADWE

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — This is the season of the year for the colleges and professionals to disagree.

Even on treating injuries.

"A lot more goes on in college than the pros," said Jeff Snedeker, the trainer of the New York Jets.

In the pros, you shoot a player with novocain and if he receives permanent damage, he'll go out, find a lawyer and sue the club. College kids just don't think about that.

For the opposition, it's

Chuck Medlar, the head trainer at Penn State and one of the trainers for the 1964 U.S. Olympic team.

"In all my years at Penn State," he said, "we've shot a boy with novocain once and that was because it was his last college game and he wanted to play."

For the past five years, Bill Bates has been the trainer of the Boston Patriots. He has seen dozens of rookies from every section of the country.

His observations are extremely candid.

"There are just some teams that have no regard for the players," said Bates. "And that means college and pro."

"There's one eastern school that has sent us so many players with bad knees that we couldn't even take them to pre-season practice."

The 'Pogo Stick' Bounds Into NBA Rookie Race

By SANDY PADWE

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

PHILADELPHIA — (NEA) — The statistics say Rick Barry should be the National Basketball Association's rookie of the year.

Balloting for the all-star team indicates the same thing.

The Philadelphia 76ers, however, concede nothing.

Their choice is Billy Cunningham, which isn't too strange considering the rookie from North Carolina has been the biggest surprise of the season for 76ers' coach Dolph Schayes.

"Just ask the coaches around the league," said Schayes, "and you'll find that Cunningham is rated higher than Barry."

"Remember, Cunningham's scoring and rebounding averages aren't as high as Barry's because we have three other pretty good forwards in Chet Walker, Luke Jackson and Dave Gambee."

"That means he's playing at least 10 to 15 minutes less per game than Barry."

"And look at many of the points Barry gets. They're mostly on the break. Cunningham has to really work for his shots."

BILL CUNNINGHAM

"Has to really work"

At 6-6, 215 pounds, there is no other way in the NBA.

"I give away a few inches and pounds to nearly everyone who plays me," Cunningham said, "so I just try to counter this with speed, which is my biggest asset."

"But it still doesn't stop me from taking a pretty good beating out there. I find that one of the toughest things to adjust to. The physical pace of this game is fantastic."

"Actually, all summer when I was touring Europe with the State Department all-star team I figured I'd better work on playing as a guard."

"But in camp, Dolph just put me at forward and I was happy. I didn't think I'd stick around too long as a guard."

In addition to his speed, Cunningham has tremendous spring which enables him to out-rebound men two and three inches taller.

A left-hander, Cunningham also has the given ability instinctively to change direction, making it extremely tough on a defensive man who might be overplaying him.

"I've played Barry and I've played Cunningham, too," said teammate Walker, "and I'm telling you that Billy has better moves."

"It's too bad he couldn't have made the all-star team like Rick. He deserves it, too."

And who beat Cunningham for the remaining forward spot?

WALTER KENNEDY

Commemorative Coin

In celebration of the opening of the Panama Canal, the United States issued a $50 gold coin, only one of its kind in our history, in a design showing a head of Minerva. The coin was minted in two forms — circular and octagonal.

LEFT HOOK—Michigan's Cazzie Russell is enjoying another great season, and once again he's among the nation's leading scorers.

SPANISH DELIGHT—Spain's favorite Sunday dish, paella, contains everything from mussels to rice. The country's golf courses are much the same—they have a little bit of everything. Here, Bobby Nichols of the U.S. slams a tee shot at the Club de Campo, near Madrid. Gene Sarazen (left), host on the television series "Shell's Wonderful World of Golf," called the Club de Campo "one of the world's most beautiful courses. There is variety in the design—just the right amount of everything." The course has set the tone for design and construction of other courses in Spain's golf boom. "Thirty years ago Spain had virtually no courses to speak of. Now it has dozens that compare to the better courses in England and the United States," Sarazen said.

When There's Golf, Who Needs Archery?

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Golf has come a long way since the early days of the game in Scotland.

The Scots who dared to play the game in the 1400s were bucking an official ban on golf because it supposedly interfered with archery practice.

Today, there are more than 10 million golfers in the world. There is no known ban on golf anywhere, but the game is still conducive to some rare occurrences.

For instance, a record number of golfers—124—achieved one of golf's most difficult feats in 1965—shooting a three-under par double eagle, according to data filed with "Golf Digest" magazine.

Cleo Elkins Sr., a one-handicapper from Warren, Ohio, recorded the longest double eagle of the year when he holed out a 260-yard three-wood shot on a 567-yard par five hole.

When Elkins' opponent told him the ball was in the cup, Elkins just lay down on the green, speechless.

Then there were the remarkable twin double eagles shot on the same par five hole in the same foursome at Riviera Country Club in Coral Gables, Fla.

Buck Luce, professional at Riviera, had a 200-yard four wood over trees for a second shot. His partner, Frank Kerr, followed with an 185-yard three iron. Both balls were nestled in the cup when they reached the green.

Both men spent five minutes trying to find witnesses. They didn't believe it either.

It was also a big year for golf's rarest feat—equaling or bettering one's age in 18 holes on a course at least 6,000 yards long.

Henry G. Miller, 82, of Anaheim, Calif., was the oldest age-shooter registered in 1965. Golf's all-time age-shooter is still William G. Water, who matched his age when he shot a 91 on his birthday in 1964.

Bill Edmonds, 77, of Pietermaritzburg, South Africa, has matched or bettered his age more than 100 times since he turned 70. In 1965, he accomplished 10 such records.

Where Weak Two Bid Pays Off

By JACOBY & SON
1965 Vanderbilt Cup Winners
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

All experts don't use weak two bids the same way. The only complete agreement is that they restrict them to a minimum of six high card points and a maximum of 12, and even this complete agreement has only been achieved by a rule of the American Contract Bridge League that penalizes a player in a tournament who bids a weak two outside this range.

Our own rules for a weak two bid are rather strict. To start with, we want to be sure that we have a good six-card suit. Then, since the weak two is a slightly dangerous maneuver, we vary our point count requirements with vulnerability and we try to avoid both the six high card point minimum and 12 high card point maximum. Finally we don't open with a weak two when we are void in a suit or have any four-card major suit holding in addition to our main suit. Sometimes a weak two bid can produce an extraordinary favorable result.

No one had a proper opening bid with today's hand but

South has an excellent weak two-heart bid.

North does not know how good South's weak two bid is but North does know that he has really excellent support for his partner's good six-card suit.

There are scientific ways for North to explore game possibilities but he doesn't need a lot of science. Just a little common sense tells North that there ought to be a good play for four hearts, and he bids it.

Estranged Wife of Actor Dead

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The planned reconciliation of Mickey Rooney and his fifth wife has resulted in her murder and the suicide of the young Yugoslav actor accused by Rooney of being her lover.

The bodies of Barbara Thorn-son Rooney, 29, and Milos Miloevic, 25, an actor known professionally as Milos Milos, were found Monday in the bath- room of the $150,000 Brentwood home Rooney once shared with his wife and four young chil- dren.

Police theorized that Miloevic shot Mrs. Rooney, then turned the 38-caliber pistol on himself because she was plan- ning to resume her marriage with the diminutive actor.

Rooney himself was under sedation at St. John's Hospital in nearby Santa Monica, being treated for an intestinal infec- tion acquired during filming in the Philippines.

Said Rooney's manager, Red Doff: "Mickey told me they'd (he and Barbara) had a very good talk and they were very close to reconciliation. I think Milos may have resented it."

This apparently triggered the acts of violence by Miloevic, whose divorced wife had asked police protection from his fits of temper.

West Los Angeles police, fit- ting together the sequence of events that led to the double tragedy, said this picture emerged:

Rooney returned from the Philippine location in December to discover he had been re- placed in his wife's affections by the handsome Miloevic, who had been a friend of the family for a year.

Miloevic had appeared in three films — "The Russians Are Coming," yet to be re- leased; "Religious Legends of Old Monterey" and an art film, "Incubus," in Esperanto. His marriage to Cynthia Krensky Bourn on July 2, 1964, ended in divorce after she charged him with assault last July and was to have become final this July.

A week ago, Rooney filed suit for divorce, charging that his wife was allowing, permitting, encouraging or harboring "the Yugoslav actor at the Rooney home."

Rooney listed his income at $30,000 a year, and suggested monthly alimony of $400 and child support payments of $600 per month.

Mrs. Rooney countered with a suit for separate maintenance.

Last Sunday night, Rooney and his wife met in his hospital room. Unknown to him, she had hired a private detective to tape record their conversation.

The 15-year-old actor-comedi- an, once famed as Andy Hardy, was persuasive in his argu- ments for a reconciliation. His wife shut off the recorder when she began to succumb to his reasoning.

She and the detective, Herm Senteske, returned to her home. There she met Miloevic, two other women friends and her attorney, Harold Ables.

Murder Not 1st Degree by Poison

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court ruled Monday that murder by poison is not necessarily first-degree murder.

The high court reversed the conviction of Otis B. Montague of Marianna in Lee Circuit Court last March and ordered a new trial.

Miss Montague said she poisoned a man in self defense. She said the man, Marshall Hick, came to her house with a gun and chased her from room to room, threatening to shoot her.

Hicks later asked for some water, making him ill, she said. Hicks died the next day.

"When I poured it in there, I was not thinking about doing no harm to anybody," she said. "I would have poured castor oil, turpentine or coal oil or anything. I thought it might calm him down. He was so mad."

Justice Frank Holt said it was possible for a lesser charge to be considered in a poisoning case. He said in the 6-1 opinion that the lower court failed to give the jury an opportunity to consider one.

The high court also ruled that a utility is not required to install electrical lines free in an area remote from the exist- ing power facilities.

The ruling affirmed Scott Cir- cuit Court which dismissed a case brought by Lloyd Douthit and his wife against Arkansas Power & Light Co.

The Douthits sued for reim- bursement of $100 for right of way and $923 to erect the lines, contending they were entitled to free installation. The lower court dismissed their com- plaint.

The high court ordered a new trial in a case in which the National Bank of Commerce at Pine Bluff sued Carroll D. Nor- ton for $277, the unpaid bal- ance on a car sold by Norton.

The court said a bank hold- ing a promissory note on a car must notify the dealer who sold the note before seeking to re- possess the car. Norton, an auto- dealer, had sold the car buy- ers' promissory note to the bank and when the buyer de- faulted on his payments, the bank repossessed the car and sold it for $77.

The bank then demanded the $277 from Norton. Jefferson Circuit Court ruled that the bank was not required to give notice of sale.

He Chooses Man Over Machines

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Charles Townes, a Nobel Prize-winning physicist, told the American Physical Society Thursday night that he'll choose man over machines in the most complicated tasks of space ex- ploration.

He said problems that devel- oped on every orbital flight would have prevented a suc- cessful return to earth if a trained astronaut had not been aboard.

Said Townes: "As a general ap- proach to space exploration, man is the only one who can be trusted to make the right decisions."

UN Council Called Into Urgent Meet

By MAX HARRELSON

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council was called into urgent session today to begin debate on a U.S. proposal for preparatory talks to set up a Viet Nam peace conference.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg put the war in Viet Nam before the 15-member council late Monday in a resolu- tion which asked that a place and date be fixed for immediate and unconditional discussions of arrangements for the proposed peace conference.

Both the U.S. request for the council meeting and the U.S. resolution caught U.N. diplo- mats by surprise. The corridors buzzed with speculation on pos- sible Soviet moves. One unan- swered question was whether the Russians would seek to have the government of North Viet Nam invited to take part in the council debate. Another was whether the Russians would veto the U.S. resolution.

The U.S. delegation was not expected to object if the council favored inviting North Viet Nam, but there was no word on the U.S. attitude toward a bid to the Viet Cong. The British gov- ernment disclosed Monday night that North Vietnamese Presi- dent Ho Chi Minh, in a message to Queen Elizabeth II last week, set as a new condition for peace talks U.S. recognition of the Viet Cong as "the sole genuine representative of the people of South Viet Nam."

Red China again rejected U.N. intervention in the Viet Nam war. Repeating Peking's often-stated position, the official New China News Agency said the United Nations "has no right to meddle with the Viet Nam question."

Ruling in Wirges Case Is Expected

By JOHN R. STARR

Associated Press Writer
MORRILTON, Ark. (AP) — Circuit Judge Russell C. Roberts was expected to rule to- day on whether Gene Wirges' trial on a perjury indictment should be moved to another county or even outside the 5th Judicial Circuit.

Wirges' attorneys asked Mon- day for a change of venue on grounds that Wirges could not get a fair trial because of his feud with the Conway County political establishment headed by Sheriff Marlin Hawkins.

The witnesses divided along party lines in the change of venue hearing Monday.

Republicans testified that the jury system in the county was under control of the Hawkins group and that it would be im- possible for Wirges to get a fair trial here.

Other witnesses whom Wir- ges' attorney, Tom Eisele of Little Rock, tried to link with the Hawkins faction assured the judge that a fair trial was pos- sible.

Many of the witnesses were members of either Grand or Petit juries empaneled in Con- way County during the last

LONDON (AP)—Britain today announced a ban on virtually all remaining trade with Rhodesia, stepping up its economic campaign to bring down the re- bellious white minority govern- ment.

The trade ban, effective Wednesday, includes one possi- ble exception — British exports for humanitarian needs in Rhod- esia.

Last year Rhodesia bought $86 million worth of British goods.

Government sources said Prime Minister Harold Wilson remains optimistic about the ef- fects of earlier economic sanc- tions that include an oil embar- go and a boycott of Rhodesian tobacco exports. The British expect Rhodesian unemploy- ment to climb in the next two months.

MOSCOW (AP) — Five Soviet citizens went on trial today in the southern Russian city of Mineralnye Vody, accused of collaborating with the Germans during World War II. Moscow Radio reported.

"For more than 20 years," the radio said, "these traitors concealed themselves behind false names and false passports."

"The deserters and murder- ers now been brought to account. They were guilty of the death by shooting of 6,000 people of Mineralnye Vody."
